RAHWAY, NJ WATER REMAINS SAFE TO DRINK

City of Rahway and SUEZ-Rahway Remain Diligent on Tap Water Concerns

Please be advised the City of Rahway continually works with SUEZ-Rahway to monitor and ensure the safety of the tap water for the residents and businesses in Rahway, NJ. SUEZ-Rahway is aware of the elevated chloride and sodium levels that are contributing to the “salty” taste of the tap water, originating from winter weather events and snow and ice control measures.

The “salty” taste from road salt runoff is a temporary, seasonal occurrence and the water remains safe to drink. While this situation is not emergent, the City of Rahway would like its residents and business owners to be aware that SUEZ-Rahway is held to high levels of accountability for the tap water in the City and that safety is priority.

To minimize the elevated chloride and sodium levels, The City of Rahway supplements its source of water supply (Rahway River) with treated water purchased from Middlesex Water Company and blends it at the treatment plant.

For more detailed information on the USEPA standards of chloride and sodium within water supplies, please refer to the SUEZ website, www.mysuezwater.com

Any additional questions or concerns may be directed to SUEZ-Rahway by calling (732) 388-0086.
